

ADVANCED PROBIOTIC SOLUTION FOR POSTPARTUM UTERINE HEALTH

prompt® BOVCARE

Bovine Endometritis Probiotic Treatment

CURRENT CHALLENGES

Postpartum uterine infections, including endometritis and metritis, are increasingly common and pose major challenges for dairy herds.

Studies show that 80–90% of postpartum bovines develop uterine infections, and 10–20% progress to clinical endometritis.

These conditions lead to

Reduced milk
yield

Poor conception rates

Extended open periods

Increased culling due to infertility

Farmers often rely on broad-spectrum antibiotics to manage these infections, raising long-term concerns for animal health, milk safety, and public health.

Introducing prompt® BOVCARE

Bovine Endometritis Probiotic Treatment

BovCare is an advanced probiotic-based intrauterine treatment designed to treat clinical and subclinical endometritis in postpartum cows and buffaloes, without the risks associated with antibiotics.

It contains probiotic bacteria sourced from the natural reproductive environment of bovines, ensuring high adaptability and therapeutic effectiveness.

Uterine Health Conditions Addressed

- Clinical endometritis
- Subclinical endometritis
